and yes, for the first time I have read it 23 years ago, in summer 1999.

just a glimpse of this Dugin "seminal" book "The Foundations of Geopolitics: The Geopolitical Future of Russia", written in 1997.

yes, it is the map of the cordial geopolitical divide of zones of influence in Europe between two best friends: Russia and Germany and this explains why I was always against lumping russia & China together.

Dugin in 1997 was seeing China's territories as a part of russia's borderlands. He proposed to divide China like this 📍

I bet there are Chinese statesmen, who are old enough to remember this.

a little more on this China-related topic.

Former China's Ambassador to Ukraine about Russia's impending defeat and the IR after the war.

Gao's comments address China's interests at a closed conference, bcs the debate going on in China beneath the surface.

4/

"Certainly Russia wants to stop the war and hold on to its gains; some Chinese might gather from Chinese media reporting, that Russia wants peace; those troublesome fascists in Ukraine just need to lay down their arms and listen to reason..."

5/

... I imagine many invaders such as the Japanese in China in WWII might have been willing to get a cease-fire or even a settlement if those pesky resisters of the Imperial forces would just stop fighting..."

6/

Japan did make a deal with puppet governments in Manchuria and Shanghai to make a sort of peace one might say."

The tone of the article doesn't suggest UA & the USA are opposing peace — Gao states that RF wants to hold on to its gains while UA wants to repel the invader.

it's all here and this is WOW, honestly:

高玉生, 1947年生。1984年至1988年, 任驻苏维埃社会主义共和国联盟大使馆三秘、二秘; 2000至2007年, 先后任中国驻土库曼斯坦、乌兹别克斯坦和乌克兰大使。

Gao Yusheng was born in 1947. From 1984 to 1988, he consecutively served as a Third Secretary and a Second Secretary at the Chinese embassy in the Soviet Union. From 2000 to 2007, he consecutively served as the Special and Plenipotentiary Ambassador of China to Turkmenistan, Uzbekistan and Ukraine.

Yusheng knows Dugin maps from above. And Gao's parallels btwn Japanese invasion in China & russia's invasion in Ukraine are striking also bcs Dugin in 1997 has NOT seen China as a global player AT ALL.

Dugin was betting on russia's alliance with Japan & on division of China.
