Mikhail Gorbachev died. He was a criminal who ordered to violently suppress peaceful protest in Riga, Vilnius, Tbilisi, Alma-Ata, and other cities. He was cheered in the West because the West did not care about dead Kazakhs or Lithuanians. It is a pity he was never tried in court

The sad phenomenon of Gorbi-mania needs a deep and solid research. The Western fascination by Gorbachev reminds me the fascination by Pinochet, one can witness in some post-Soviet countries. A totally fake image, based on white-washing of bloody crimes.

January 13th, 1991. Gave over already, the USSR is dead, but Gorbachev sends tanks to Riga, and tanks roll over people - after Gorbachev had addressed Latvia with his "ultimatum" and requested to "restore (communist) order". He was a Kremlin boss, never hesitating to send tanks.

And don't forget: Gorbachev was the Liar of Chernobyl. Under him thousands of Kyiv children were forced to participate in a 1st May parade under radioactive cloud, just to make the picture peaceful. Hundreds of KGB agents were sent to Kyiv to neutralise everyone who warned them.

The legend of Ukrainian poetry and national philosophy renaissance Vasyl Stus was killed in a Soviet labor camp under Gorbachev as the General Secretary.

Gorbachev was groomed by Andropov himself. The Head of KGB and later the General Secretary of the Communist Party. The cynical murderer. The butcher of Budapest 1956. The head over most terror networks in Europe and Middle East. Andropov selected Gorbi as his Prince and Successor

Western politicians praise Gorbachev as a “peaceful” person who “did not use violence or tanks” - but in reality they mean “no violence on First-Class-Nations”, as he sent tanks to many other nations. Here is Vilnius, Lithuania, where he sent tanks to and killed people there...

...or here the Gorbachev's tanks are killing people in Tbilisi, Georgia...

...or here Gorbachev's army kills people in Baku, Azerbaijan...

...more terrible photos from the Gorbachev's Baku-massacre...
